

end of the year.
 All arrangements of the public sing.
 re) 1 week, $1.00 30 er year..... 7.00
 notices, resolu-
 (line) Legislatublished rates &
 ear the year.
 uthing
 e and promptly prices.
 to
 No. 100, 101, 102

24

FREELAND HOW

Read the paper for the next 4 weeks. It will interest you. We have over 1000 correspondents that report especially for the Advertiser.

PORTLAND & BOSTON STEAMSHIP CO.
FINEST CLASS STEAMERS
CLD & ELLABLE leave Franklin Wharf, Portland, every Monday & Friday expedited, arriving in Boston in 7 hours for the next train for Lowell, Lynn, & Salem, Lawrence, Providence, & New Bedford.

—AT—
Jackson Clark's,
Norway Block, 47th Norway, N
NOTICE!
First Class Tailoress Girls to work at N
W 1st Village about the 1st of March. Appl

When in town visit the new Jewel
Store, in the old Post Office building, BETHEL, ME.
Special attention paid to the REPAIRING of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
I have a fine stock of SPECTACLES in steel and gold frames. Call and have your eyes perfectly fitted.
J. PIERCE, Bethel, Me

WANTED!
Second-growth Rock
Maple Timber!
For particulars, inquire of J. R. & D. S. SANBORN,

But the old building with the ancient rocket store within, with its two stocks of old time make, standing with its easterly corner projecting boldly almost into the very street, with its narrow old-fashioned finish and its very uncertain color, still acts the sentinel for that part of the village and keeps ward and watch over all who come or go. To all appearance not a clapboard has been changed, or a window given place to a red oxen, close matched and girling of seven feet.

Amos B. Grant who lives in the Walworths froze one ear badly one night in winter while sleeping in the open lumber.

Stephen Winslow, the false prophet, swapped horses again. He has got one looking mare with foal. She is from Lawrence, Mass. My grand-uncle, who lived in Massachusetts when young man knew this mare well.

cover in large type that all may see what they are buying. We would rather have the letters put on the street door of every saloon and on the letters of light over every school where good teaching is found.

The moral nature of a child needs training as well as the physical. Education should go with the physical, intellectual and moral nature of children. Cultivate the good, not the others, is the aim of a good education.

the best of order,—by scanning Dyspepsia
 direct ac-such man
 Siek Hen-Prostrat-pitation ing symflower
 Sample
 The A-list of o-best ad-1891 and Liver Complaint are the of seventy-five per cent.

as Biliousness, Indigestion,
ache, Costiveness, Nervous Dizziness of the Head, Pal-the Heart, and other distresssions. Three doses of August prove its wonderful effect. ticles, 10 cents. Try it.

Advertiser has a bone side regular 2400 subscribers. It is the leading medium in the country.

Oxford County Advertiser.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1887.

[Entered as Second Class matter.]

Joseph H. Johnson of Lovell has had his pension increased. J. F. Twichell of Hiram has had his pension increased.

Mr. Wright of Paris introduced a bill Saturday asking for an increase of pay for the sheriff of Oxford County during court time.

Henry George's theories are to be subjected to a searching criticism by George Ganton, in a paper to be published in the Forum for March.

About the 25th of this month a handsome picture of the State House, at Augusta, with interior views of the Senate Chamber and Representatives' Hall, together with accurate portraits and autographs of the 32 Governors of our State, viz: King, Williamson, Parks, Lincoln, Oakes, Garrison, Hutton, Smith, Dunlap, Kent, Fairfield, Kavanaugh (acting), Jackson, Dana, Hubbard, Crosby, A. J. Morrill, Wells, Hamlin, Williams (acting), J. A. Morrill, Washburn, Coburn, Conant, Chamberlain, Perkins, Dingley, Sumner, Garfield, Hayes, Fiske, Blaine, and Ketchum, will be issued by the State. This will be the first and probably the only publication of the portraits of all the Governors of Maine, and for his historical associations and for the great interest in this picture, it will be sold at a low price. The picture is to be in 5 colors, on plate, paper, and card. Price $1.00 each, postage paid. We predict for this valuable picture a large sale. It is a masterpiece of art, and one of the most beautiful ever published. It is a masterpiece of art, and one of the most beautiful ever published. It is a masterpiece of art, and one of the most beautiful ever published.

February Term of Court.

HON. ESCHOT FOSTER, Justice Presiding.
ALBERT S. AUSTIN, Clerk.
MISS M. S. POWERS, Stenographer.
OSCAR E. HERRICK, County Attorney.
C. M. WOODHEAD, Sheriff.
H. E. HADAMON, Coroner.
SAMUEL R. CARTER, Librarian.
W. A. BARNES, Messenger.

In the case of Roscoe G. Heard vs. Amos Blazo the verdict was for the defendant.

Chas. M. Goss vs. Emory G. Young. A real action brought to recover the debt of $100, in the 21st range. The only question in dispute was the ownership of the latter parcel. When the case was reached for trial, Goss gave up the contest, and Young has judgment for the price of the land.

Stephen Taylor vs. David R. Hastings. David Hastings, Almon Young, Peter G. Young, Charles Rankin, Daniel Hill, Ebenezer T. Nutter, Walter B. Nutter and Henry Nutter, all of the Byron case. Verdict for Hastings.

GLEAD.

Geo. Robertson of Lewiston, was visiting in town a few days since. C. Towle, of Lewiston, was in town last week.

Al. Scrimmer has been on the sick list but is now better.

J. M. Philbrooks, of Bethel, was in town last Saturday.

T. F. Horne spent last Sunday with his family at Lisbon Falls.

Nellie Howe is reported as being worse.

Will not our people take some measures to prevent diphtheria in this place? It is a nuisance the way it is allowed to be carried on and caught to be stopped. I would advise a lock-up and will help pay for the same.

Calie Cross's sister was here on a visit last week. Mr. Cross has not been here for some time.

News is very scarce on the north side of the river, but we wish our fellow correspondents to understand that we are alive and well if they do not hear from us very often.

After the prolonged cold weather, the last few days make us dream of spring, and our humane friends tell us that we are to have fine weather for the remainder of the month, but "we know not what we are to have."

Thomas Wright of Gorham, N.H., came home on a short visit last week. He is looking well.

A. J. Blake has just received six tons of Bradley's fertilizer, which will probably be used by the farmers of this vicinity in the spring.

Mrs. George Burnham, who has been suffering from rheumatism is now better. She has been attended by a physician of Gorham, N.H.

Mrs. Hannah Wright is also more comfortable.

Foxes have been plenty this winter and approach near the dwelling houses without seeming to fear being caught. Hunters seem to be scarce.

Eggs are selling for twenty cents per dozen, and butter for twenty-five cents per pound.

Early lambs have found rather a cold welcome this month, but some were determined to live and thrive in spite of wind and storm.

We would like to see more items from the correspondent at West Bethel.

SOUTH EAST BETHEL.

30 degrees below zero St. Valentine's Day.

Idola Foster has returned home from Lisbon after an absence of five months.

The birthday party of Sadie Barker last Friday evening brought out a good number considering the bad weather. There were seventeen guests present and all seemed to enjoy a first-class time.

Mrs. D. Foster went to Portland last week to purchase his yearly supply of groceries.

Emma Brown has gone to Rev. Mass. to visit friends.

OTISFIELD.

Colds are still the rage here.

DENMARK.

Mrs. Rufus Bennett and her father, Isaac Bennett, are visiting at Springvale and South Bethel.

Jacob Cole and wife from Woodfords have been visiting at Geo. Moulton's.

Edw. Hodge goes to Boston this week. Mrs. R. A. Cross from Boston, is visiting at her home.

Lillian Sargent from Portland, has been stopping in town for a few days.

The drama "Through Snow and Sunshine" was presented at O. F. Hall Thursday eve to a full house. A social dance followed. Music by M. E. Wentworth and son.

The Boston Ideal Troubadours gave a concert at O. F. Hall Friday eve. Owing to the storm there was a small audience.

Lillian Smith has been stopping in Freeburg at Mrs. Frank Thomas for the past week.

Grand Hall at O. F. Hall Friday eve, March 4th. Music by Cole's Band.

BUCKFIELD.

Those who were interested in having a better factory here met last Saturday afternoon and organized for business by choosing H. D. Irish for President; Alfred Cole, Clerk; C. H. Prince, Treasurer and other necessary officers, and adjourned to Tuesday evening of this week.

A grand lecture was given last Wednesday eve by Mr. W. E. Brown of the Boston Society, "Certainties of Religion."

There seems to be quite an interest in our village in colts. There are quite a number of the first lot to organize the owners seem to think that they want them broken to the harness and sleigh which I think is fine same. The Lodge has employed the services of A. Robinson to come to this village and train the colts. He comes every day, having a number of one then another. He has had some half a dozen different ones to handle. There are now that he has had some half a dozen different ones to handle. There are now that he has had some half a dozen different ones to handle.

Free high school commenced last Monday.

Died in Hartford Saturday the 19th inst. Wm. Bicknell, aged 83 years. Mr. Bicknell was well known by a large circle of friends. He has been a very noted man in many respects, particularly for his temperance principles. He has also been a staunch temperance man. He was a member of the State Temperance Society, and was one of the founders of the Crystal Water Lodge of Good Templars in Buckfield, and has always been a faithful member of the same. The Lodge will miss him in their midst. Mr. Bicknell was noted as a newspaper correspondent, and was a regular contributor to the papers of the Oxford Democrat and Oxford County Advertiser well known. He has been a member of the State Temperance Society, and was one of the founders of the Crystal Water Lodge of Good Templars in Buckfield, and has always been a faithful member of the same. The Lodge will miss him in their midst. Mr. Bicknell was noted as a newspaper correspondent, and was a regular contributor to the papers of the Oxford Democrat and Oxford County Advertiser well known.

Stephen Taylor vs. David R. Hastings. David Hastings, Almon Young, Peter G. Young, Charles Rankin, Daniel Hill, Ebenezer T. Nutter, Walter B. Nutter and Henry Nutter, all of the Byron case. Verdict for Hastings.

Calie Cross's sister was here on a visit last week. Mr. Cross has not been here for some time.

News is very scarce on the north side of the river, but we wish our fellow correspondents to understand that we are alive and well if they do not hear from us very often.

After the prolonged cold weather, the last few days make us dream of spring, and our humane friends tell us that we are to have fine weather for the remainder of the month, but "we know not what we are to have."

Thomas Wright of Gorham, N.H., came home on a short visit last week. He is looking well.

A. J. Blake has just received six tons of Bradley's fertilizer, which will probably be used by the farmers of this vicinity in the spring.

Mrs. George Burnham, who has been suffering from rheumatism is now better. She has been attended by a physician of Gorham, N.H.

Mrs. Hannah Wright is also more comfortable.

Foxes have been plenty this winter and approach near the dwelling houses without seeming to fear being caught. Hunters seem to be scarce.

Eggs are selling for twenty cents per dozen, and butter for twenty-five cents per pound.

Early lambs have found rather a cold welcome this month, but some were determined to live and thrive in spite of wind and storm.

We would like to see more items from the correspondent at West Bethel.

LOCKE'S MILLS.

Levis Bryant, the miller, has moved back into his own house at Walker's. He has been a very noted man in many respects, particularly for his temperance principles. He has also been a staunch temperance man. He was a member of the State Temperance Society, and was one of the founders of the Crystal Water Lodge of Good Templars in Buckfield, and has always been a faithful member of the same. The Lodge will miss him in their midst. Mr. Bicknell was noted as a newspaper correspondent, and was a regular contributor to the papers of the Oxford Democrat and Oxford County Advertiser well known.

W. A. Jones tipped over on the road to Bethel and his colt got away and ran a little way. He was a member of the State Temperance Society, and was one of the founders of the Crystal Water Lodge of Good Templars in Buckfield, and has always been a faithful member of the same. The Lodge will miss him in their midst. Mr. Bicknell was noted as a newspaper correspondent, and was a regular contributor to the papers of the Oxford Democrat and Oxford County Advertiser well known.

E. E. Rand was at home over Sunday.

Died at this place on Tuesday evening, Feb. 17th, of dropsy, Freddie son of E. Lester Tabbets, aged 5 years, 10 mos. and 17 days after the death of his mother. He was a very noted man in many respects, particularly for his temperance principles. He has also been a staunch temperance man. He was a member of the State Temperance Society, and was one of the founders of the Crystal Water Lodge of Good Templars in Buckfield, and has always been a faithful member of the same. The Lodge will miss him in their midst. Mr. Bicknell was noted as a newspaper correspondent, and was a regular contributor to the papers of the Oxford Democrat and Oxford County Advertiser well known.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

Services at the church Sunday by Rev. A. R. Sylvester of Bethel at 2 p. m.

Edmund Kimball died Feb. 12th aged 71 years and 6 months. Deceased since April last he was long confined to his bed, his suffering is past and he has gone to his home in the land of the hereafter.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

Services at the church Sunday by Rev. A. R. Sylvester of Bethel at 2 p. m.

Edmund Kimball died Feb. 12th aged 71 years and 6 months. Deceased since April last he was long confined to his bed, his suffering is past and he has gone to his home in the land of the hereafter.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

Services at the church Sunday by Rev. A. R. Sylvester of Bethel at 2 p. m.

Edmund Kimball died Feb. 12th aged 71 years and 6 months. Deceased since April last he was long confined to his bed, his suffering is past and he has gone to his home in the land of the hereafter.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

Services at the church Sunday by Rev. A. R. Sylvester of Bethel at 2 p. m.

Edmund Kimball died Feb. 12th aged 71 years and 6 months. Deceased since April last he was long confined to his bed, his suffering is past and he has gone to his home in the land of the hereafter.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

Services at the church Sunday by Rev. A. R. Sylvester of Bethel at 2 p. m.

Edmund Kimball died Feb. 12th aged 71 years and 6 months. Deceased since April last he was long confined to his bed, his suffering is past and he has gone to his home in the land of the hereafter.

Some of our horse men here are intending to enter some of their fast horses and sows at Bryant's Pond, March 2nd and 3rd.

EAST STONHAM.

On the evening of the 17th inst. the members of Camp A. Richardson, gave a musical entertainment at the house of Mr. A. H. Spence.

Some excellent pieces were sung in a very acceptable and pleasing manner. Although disappointed by the absence of two actors whom they had expected to all them yet the minstrel troupe (home talent) did not consider the loss a great one.

The Captain of the Camp, Geo. W. Spence, played the month harp. Forrest McAllister, a boy of 7 years, danced a dog dance. A bone solo was played by Alfred H. Spence.

The house used on the occasion possess historic interest from the fact that they were manufactured from a piece of dining table, once belonging to the well-known rebel General Beauregard and were taken from that General's house during the Rebellion by a soldier of Co. B. 20th Maine Regt. (an uncle of A. H. Spence).

On a small piece of the table left still remain stains of its former use when loaded with the costly viands of the "sunny south." I cannot tell the name of the wood which formed the table but it seems to be of some very valuable material resembling mahogany and very much like the mahogany cuts quite hard. Perhaps some one familiar with the forests of the south can tell.

A young son of Austin McAllister, while coasting on the coast this morning, was nearly killed by a large log which he was carrying on his back. He was carried home and for a while his folks feared he could not live.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

HANOVER.

There was not a very large crowd out to the drama on account of the severe weather. About 500 persons were present.

Some excellent pieces were sung in a very acceptable and pleasing manner. Although disappointed by the absence of two actors whom they had expected to all them yet the minstrel troupe (home talent) did not consider the loss a great one.

The Captain of the Camp, Geo. W. Spence, played the month harp. Forrest McAllister, a boy of 7 years, danced a dog dance. A bone solo was played by Alfred H. Spence.

The house used on the occasion possess historic interest from the fact that they were manufactured from a piece of dining table, once belonging to the well-known rebel General Beauregard and were taken from that General's house during the Rebellion by a soldier of Co. B. 20th Maine Regt. (an uncle of A. H. Spence).

On a small piece of the table left still remain stains of its former use when loaded with the costly viands of the "sunny south." I cannot tell the name of the wood which formed the table but it seems to be of some very valuable material resembling mahogany and very much like the mahogany cuts quite hard. Perhaps some one familiar with the forests of the south can tell.

A young son of Austin McAllister, while coasting on the coast this morning, was nearly killed by a large log which he was carrying on his back. He was carried home and for a while his folks feared he could not live.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He never was further away from home than the village of Bethel.

Boiler's Mills. Uncle Daniel Sorbier writes us about a brother and sister who died in 1872, aged 81 years. He never was out of Maine but never was further away from home than the village of Bethel. He

